The University of Tokyo: Interfaculty Initiative in Information Studies

Course on "East Asian Community during a crisis

Duration; From October 2013 to January 2014

2013

#01
(October 8)

Instruction to the course

Tadashi Kimiya (professor, Interfaculty Initiative in Information Studies, Univ. of Tokyo)

#02
(October 15)

Students' presentation regarding their awareness of the East Asian issues

#03
(October 22)

Japan-China relations in 2013 in the eye of China

楊伯江 (professor & director, Dept. of Japan Studies, China Institutes of Contemporary International Relations)

#04
(October 29)

Japan-China relations in 2013 in the eye of Japan

Satoshi Amako (professor, Graduate School of Asia-Pacific Studies, Waseda University)

#05
(November 5)

The Korean Peninsula from a viewpoint of China

金景一 (deputy director, Korean Peninsula Studies, Peking University)

#06
(November 12)

The Korean Peninsula from a viewpoint of S. Korea — in terms of economic cooperation

梁文秀 (professor, University of North Korean Studies)

#07
(November 19)

The Korean Peninsula from a viewpoint of the US — in terms of socio-cultural aspects

Charles Armstrong (professor, Columbia University)

#08
(November 26)

Search for a new solution to the Japan-Korea territorial issue — from a historic and international legal viewpoint

玄大松 (research professor, Institute of Japan Studies, Kookmin University)

#09
(December 3)

Future vision of Japan-Korea relations

朴喆熙 (professor, Institute of Japan Studies, Seoul National University)

#10
(December 10)

Japan-Korea relations seen from a Chinese viewpoint

戚保良 (head, Section of Korean Peninsula Studies, China Institutes of Contemporary International Relations)

#11
(December 17)

How is the US going to deal with the situation in East Asia?

David Straub (associate director, Korean Studies Program, Stanford University)

2014

#12
(January 14)

Vision of Asian Community and activities of One Asia Foundation

Yoji Sato (director, One Asia Foundation)

#13
(January 21)

Discussion based on students' papers

#14
(January 28)

Summarization of the course